
January 2020

Letter from the Editors

Follow this and additional works at: <https://via.library.depaul.edu/jsj>

Part of the Civil Rights and Discrimination Commons, Law and Society Commons, Legislation Commons, Public Law and Legal Theory Commons, and the Social Welfare Law Commons

Recommended Citation

Letter from the Editors, 13 DePaul J. for Soc. Just. (2020)

Available at: <https://via.library.depaul.edu/jsj/vol13/iss1/1>

This Front Matter is brought to you for free and open access by the College of Law at Via Sapientiae. It has been accepted for inclusion in DePaul Journal for Social Justice by an authorized editor of Via Sapientiae. For more information, please contact digitalservices@depaul.edu.

Dear Loyal Readers,

We are proud to share with you Volume 13, Issue 1 of the DePaul Journal for Social Justice. This year, the DePaul Journal for Social Justice experienced a period of growth and new challenges while continuing to provide a platform for legal professionals to voice their concerns, share their unique experiences, and propose solutions to today's social justice issues.

This summer, the DePaul Journal for Women, Gender and the Law merged with the DePaul Journal for Social Justice. As a result, the DePaul Journal for Women, Gender and the Law will no longer publish articles independently. We pledge to uphold the values and mission of the DePaul Journal for Women, Gender and the Law by promoting sex and gender equality and highlighting the intersectionality of factors that affect legal issues concerning women and gender. Accordingly, we remain committed to publishing articles that feature the voices of the marginalized and oppressed.

We hope this issue of the DePaul Journal for Social Justice reflects the experiences of a diverse range of authors and offers thought-provoking commentaries relevant to the legal community. This publication provides a variety of articles concerning relevant social justice, women and gender, and international human rights issues directly impacting individuals in the United States and around the globe. It is our hope that the array of content will better engage our readers.

Sincerely,

Edlira Shero and Vanessa Kamberis
Editors-in-Chief