Laredo Riviera; [no toronjas]

Emmy Pérez

Follow this and additional works at: https://via.library.depaul.edu/dialogo

Recommended Citation
Pérez, Emmy (2014) "Laredo Riviera; [no toronjas]," Diálogo: Vol. 17 : No. 2 , Article 44.
Available at: https://via.library.depaul.edu/dialogo/vol17/iss2/44
Laredo Riviera

I could love you all day in the eye of a Laredo
swimming pool
sky, ears under water.

Clouds can't hear
border patrol's canines before they're detained beside the river, our view in that dusky almost stadium light. Two cities facing each other. What is it to love within viewing distance of night vision glasses and guns, mud and the Republic of the Río Grande museum? Tourists and churches, credit cards and elotes, we try to forget our maquiladora conveniences, toast compañero@s and watch Tejan@s dance, slide on sticky floors. We imagine who lives with each other, who only for the night. Euphoria more ancient than any vow. Earth is earth. And kryptonite, kryptonite. You and me, me and you.

[no toronjas]

No toronjas
this drought.
Creamy flower
blossoms arrive
late, no fruit.
White like the pith
we once tore
with plump sections
from the peel.
Nepantla where it is bittersweetish.

Nepantla
without

toronjas
Like a season missed. You

in a city
somewhere digging
car out of frozen snow. Bed

at nightfall. I withhold watering toronjas like I withhold my tongue, here

where it is sweetbitter-sweet. I would
water them

with the slush
of your winter

thaw if you too would only speak.