Archives of the Congregation of the Mission: Province of the West

BY JOHN A. WALKER, C.M.
REVISED AND DATABASED FROM THE ORIGINAL "SUMMARY INVENTORY" BY JOSEPH S. FALANGA, C.M.

Introduction

Located in Montebello, California, at Saint Vincent’s Seminary, the Provincial Archive was established in 1977 by Father Joseph Falanga, then provincial of the Province of the West, with Fathers William Ready and John Ruhl as archivists. The north half of the original dormitory building was set aside and prepared with steel shelving for materials on hand and to come. The one large room (approximately 30 feet x 40 feet) was partitioned north to south into two rooms 30 x 20 each. The west side, called the Document Room, has both steel and wood shelving for archival records in written, printed, and audio-visual form. The east side, called the Display Room, was prepared with fixed wooden shelving on the north wall; the rest of the room contains display tables and cases. Appointed archivist in 1982 by his successor as provincial and relieved in 1988, Falanga gathered and organized the present content, based on the ground-work of Ready and Ruhl. The following summary inventory is substantially his and reflects the holdings of the archive at the end of 1988, with some notable additions since then. The incumbent archivist has introduced some revision, condensation, and simplification of arrangement. The primary determining factor for the placement of non-personal material in the collection and inventory is place of origin, regardless of time-frame or administrative structural change. This eliminates multiple shelf locations for the same record-generating entity and makes research a little easier. There is a detailed page inventory for each box, and the collection is presently being fine-tuned.

1In 1986 the seminary operation was discontinued, and the name changed to DePaul Center, a facility for retreats, engaged encounters, evangelization, ministry training, etc. While housed gratis at the center, the archive is independent of the center corporation and apostolate. The center insists that this be kept perfectly clear in transacting business with the archive. Hence, correspondence should be addressed to Provincial Archive, 1105 Bluff Road, Montebello, California, 90640-6198.
to the file-folder level. Because of time and space limitations, this presentation is somewhat general. The following "Outline of Contents" pertains to this inventory as well as to the location of materials and to the structure of the database.

\(^3\)Originally, each house was assigned a box to contain all articles from the Annals, newspaper clippings, magazines, albums, and publications and materials used at the House. In many cases, however, there were only a few items (sometimes only one) to a box. To conserve space, these items have been assigned to individual folders, and the number of boxes reduced accordingly.

4Father Van Kleef, C.M., an Eastern confrere originally from Holland and assigned to the Panama Mission, was shot by an officious, nervous, trigger-happy policeman during a period of unrest on 7 May 1989. The official story was that the shooting was “accidental.” However, the boy accompanying Van Kleef in the car testified that the policeman was sitting in the back seat with his finger on the trigger of the rifle held to the back of the priest’s head. Van Kleef, a paraplegic driving a specially equipped car, was slow in executing the policeman’s commands to turn!

5This was the original house of formation for the Western Province. When the two vice-provinces were established in 1958, it became a house of common formation, as a novitiate, college, and Theologate. It later lost the novitiate to Santa Barbara, and the theologate to Lemont.

This was the name given to the original diocesan minor seminary. While I do not find any pertinent mention or documentation, I strongly suspect that the name is a sentimental perpetuation of the defunct Los Angeles College, which was the name used in referring to Saint Vincent’s College during the six years after it closed in 1911 and before the Jesuits opened Loyola. Pertinent materials might be at the archdiocesan archive, the provincial office, or Queen of Angels Seminary.

Originally entrusted to the direction of the Vincentian Fathers, Saint John’s Seminary was established in 1939 at Camarillo on property donated by the Juan Camarillo family. It comprised the usual two-year philosophy and four-year theology program. In 1961 the philosophy department was combined with the two-year post-high school program of Queen of Angels Minor Seminary, thus establishing a four-year college. In 1966 a new building on a different part of the property was opened and administratively separated from the theology department as Saint John’s Seminary College, making two separate Community houses. Later, total administration and partial staffing was transferred to priests of the archdiocese.

The parish was established in August of 1886, and the church was built at Grand Avenue and Washington, south of Saint Vincent’s College. The first mass was celebrated on 25 January 1887; the last on 29 March 1925. The ground-breaking for the present church at Adams and Figueroa took place on 13 October 1923, and the cornerstone was laid 18 July of the following year. The first mass in the new church was offered on 5 April 1925 (Easter Sunday); the solemn consecration by Cardinal Patrick Hayes of New York was 23 October 1930. The church had been donated by Edward and Estelle Doheny. The building and grounds were maintained, and continue to be, by the Doheny Foundation. In 1968 the statues and other unstable appendages on the facade were bolted firmly in place, as were various interior statues. Fortunately, this eliminated damage in the several substantial earthquakes since then.

\(^{11}\)For the Annales, Father Falanga compiled a special inventory listing subject matter by country with the page location taken from the table of contents and index of the respective volumes. For the English Annals, there is a file of photocopies of the table of contents and index pages, volume by volume. Both compilations occupy a full file drawer.
recent titles in Spanish. There are an additional 150 titles of miscellaneous publications and unpublished writings (e.g. dissertations, sermons, lectures, spiritual direction) by confreres. The Document Room holds another 202 titles (old and rare books, etc.). Some of the less common items include the following.

A. Community Books

Davitt, Thomas, C.M. Justin de Jacobis, C.M. Dublin, 1975.

When Father Falanga took his spirituality workshop at Saint Louis University in 1981, he was highly annoyed that there was little available in English about Saint Vincent’s spirituality. Aware that the Spanish Provinces were publishing a great wealth of material, he began accumulating some of it for the archive in hope of attracting and interesting somebody to translate it into English. The idea is still a viable one.

Community history from the time of Saint Vincent to the 1950s in diary format, i.e., what happened on a day to day basis, as found and compiled from various sources.

B. Periodicals
Catalogs of Houses and Personnel
Ordos
Necrologies
Yearbooks (of various seminaries run by the Community)

Booklets, pictures, clippings, sermons, and addresses for the following: Tercentenary celebration of the deaths of Saint Vincent and Saint Louise; canonization and bicentennial celebration of Mother Seton; canonization of Saint Justin de Jacobis; blessing of Saint Vincent's Church, Kaosiuang, China; letters about Saint Vincent on special occasions, including a letter by Pope John Paul II on the 400th anniversary of Saint Vincent's death.

C. Writings By Confreres

Our collection of published and unpublished writings by confreres, particularly those in the western region of the United States, deserves a more thorough and ordered listing than presently exists. Space and time limitations dictate a postponement until a suitable bibliography can be prepared to share with the other archives of the Double Family.

D. Special Books

Liturgy: missals, rituals, chants, sacramentaries, lectionaries.

Miscellaneous, cataloged by age, author, and topic:
- e.g. Latin and Greek grammars; Plato; Aristotle; Signers of the Declaration of Independence (with a set of facsimile signatures).

Publications by Francis Weber on the California missions and the history of Catholicism in that state.

Old, and perhaps, rare books about California from the Isidore Dockweiler collection.

Old and rare books from the Doheny collection.\footnote{The archive has two copies of the famous (to book collectors) Novum Psalterium Pii XII, specially printed MCMLV in forty-eight copies for Mrs. Doheny. The copy she gave to Cardinal McIntyre sold in March 1989 at Christie's in New York for over $100,000! One of the archive's copies is Number 6, presented to Father William Ward, C.M.R.(sic), with the well known Doheny oval leather bookplate. The other copy is unnumbered and unpresented. These are with the other books that came from Chester Place and/or Saint Vincent's rectory basement. There is no clear record about the source.}

The Archives Operations are noted here as an integral element, but not necessarily of general interest.
In prayer God helps us to realize his goodness in giving himself to us.

(Saint Louise de Marillac, conference to Daughters of Charity, 31 May 1648)

Prayer is the soul of our souls, that is, what the soul is to the body, prayer is to the soul.

(Saint Vincent de Paul, conference to Daughters of Charity, 31 May 1648)

You must realize that authority is not to be wielded absolutely, but charitably, and that we are Sister Servants, which means we must bear the heaviest loads of mind and body.

(Saint Louise de Marillac to a Sister Servant at Liancourt, 20 September 1650, letter 290b).
